

No Penalty for Apollo 13 Error

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The space agency probably won't penalize the two aerospace firms that allowed inadequate switches to be placed on the Apollo 13 oxygen tank which exploded en route to the moon.

The contract with North American Rockwell, the firm that received more than $1 billion for all the Apollo command and service modules, doesn't contain a penalty clause. It is a cost-plus fixed fee contract and most of it has been paid.

Apollo 13 was nearing the moon April 13 when one of its two oxygen tanks blew up, knocking out all spacecraft power. Astronauts James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr., and John L. Swigert Jr., limped home using propulsion and life-support systems of their lunar lander.

But the $375 million mission to land on the highlands of the moon was a failure.

The Apollo 13 review board blamed North American Rockwell, the Beech Aircraft Corp., and the space agency itself for "an unusual combination of mistakes, coupled with a somewhat deficient and unforgiving design."

It said the tank—built under subcontract by Beech—had inadequate protective switches, a loose fill tube and was inadequately tested. "It was a serious oversight in which all parties shared," the report said.

Since the Jan. 27, 1967, launch pad fire that cost the lives of three astronauts on Apollo 1, the contractors have received a fee of 5 to 6 per cent over cost, plus an additional award fee feature amounting to one half of one per cent.

That award fee remains to be paid for Apollo 13, but a determination of whether this will be withheld won't be made until next year when the fee board meets. The exact amount to be paid isn't available, but NASA spokesman Julian Scheer says it won't be more than $500,000.

North American Rockwell has six more Apollo spacecraft ready for the space agency, but the award fee won't apply to them, so there is even less provision for penalty should any fault be traceable to the manufacturer.

Martinez and Taylor on Lions Program

Dr. Angel Martinez

Dr. Angel Martinez and Steve Taylor brought the program to Hope Lions Club at its luncheon Monday noon in Town & Country restaurant. Evangelist Martinez and his music director, Mr.

Taylor, are currently conducting a revival at First Baptist Church.

They were introduced by the Rev. Gerald Trussell, pastor, a member of the Lions Club. Dr. Martinez, who has ap-

Club guests Monday were:

Democrats Cool to Rally Speech

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, the principle speaker at a Democratic unity dinner here Saturday night, failed to arouse the crowd of about 400 persons as he attacked the administration of President Richard M. Nixon.

The only applause came when Hughes said, "There is no nation or combination of nations that can defeat the United States in warfare."

This remark came after he had criticized President Nixon's military budget, saying this nation was spending $78.1 billion for defense.

Hughes, who declared himself to be a dove, warned his audience in advance that his voting record would be displeasing to many of his listeners.

He noted that the theme of the dinner was "Democrats together" but, he said, "Unity does not mean we have to agree on every single step down the road."

Hughes said the Democrats have a good opportunity to win Congressional elections this year and the presidency in 1972.

The Pope County Democratic organization, which sponsored the rally and called it the kick-off of the 1970 campaign, gave each candidate for statewide office three minutes to speak.

All eight candidates for governor and all five candidates for lieutenant governor took advantage of the occasion.

Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell sounded most like a candidate declaring "give me your nomination and I will lead the Democrats to a sweeping victory."

Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus said it would take longer than three minutes to tell about the Rockefeller administration and so he would give back his time and go home early.

Bill Wells said the Democrats should begin together and end together in November.

Dale Bumpers said he was the new face that Arkansas voters deserved.

Bob Compton pledged to support all Democratic nominees. He charged that Rockefeller, a multi-millionaire, had bought the governorship.

Hayes McClerkin took what could be interpreted as a jab at Faubus by saying, as he has before, "We cannot solve the problems of the '70s with the answers of the '50s or '60s."

Faubus was governor from 1955 through 1966.

Jim Malone Jr. predicted the next governor was sitting in the hall.

W. S. Cheek said the state needed to get fiscal responsibility back into the state house. He said Arkansas needs a governor who will deal with the narcotics problem.

though he conceded rechecks "turn up a few missed households."

But he said complaints are higher than in 1960 because the bureau admitted it missed 5 million people that year, thus encouraging local officials to question figures this time.

Squires said most of the complaints come from areas where the forms went out by mail but were to be held for an enumeration to pick up.

"At least hundreds of these, and perhaps thousands, are still out there" because the people were not at home and the enumerators got the basic population information from their neighbors, Squires said.

Investigations have shown this to be the case in 97 or 98 per cent of the cases, he said, although the forms lying uncollected in homes do "stimulate this feeling of undercount."

But despite the complaints, ranging from mild questioning to warning that "they're going to be sorry they released those figures," Squires maintained the bureau is "not in the least bit disturbed."

If he is not, dozens of local officials canvassed in a national Associated Press survey are.

The returns are not in yet from the major metropolitan areas or from California the most populous state by recent estimates. But overall, the bureau expects to find the nation has something over 204 million people, about 25 million more than the 1960 head count showed.

The Constitution requires a census every 10 years, and one of its major uses is deciding how many members each state can send to the House of Representatives.

On the local level, however, the concern is over such things as the distribution of state school money or the classification of towns.

The Census Bureau says it investigates every complaint, although some have been dropped when district or regional Census directors said city officials would have to show hard evidence people had been missed before anything could be done.

Boy Killed in Perryville Crash

PERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Gary Brown, 17, of Route 1, Perryville was killed Monday night in a two-car collision on a county road in Perry County west of Perryville.

State Police said Brown was the driver of a car that collided head-on at the top of a hill with a car driven by Billy Belk, 16, of Route 2, Perryville.

Belk and Brown's passenger, Gary Paul Tucker, 18, of Perryville, and Belk's passenger, Jerry Stone, 18, of Perryville were injured.

Whipping Pollution on Just One River Is Long, Tedious Job

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Chihuahua, Mexico (AP) — In the wave of public enthusiasm for cleaning up man's environment, authorities are cautioning against too high expectations for quick fixes.

Fighting pollution calls for continued commitment, money, and cooperation, they emphasize.

To clean up one American river system, for example, all cities along its banks must act against pollution from sewage and industrial wastes.

All that may present problems enough. Trying to control water or air pollution with an international boundary involved escalates the difficulties.

Residents of Ciudad Juarez, a burgeoning northern Mexico metropolis of 435,000 sprawling beside the Rio Grande, call the problem "contaminacion de atmosferica." In El Paso, a stone's throw across the muddy, often dry river, the 350,000 inhabitants of Texas' fifth largest city know it as "air pollution."

Different languages, different cultures—same pollution.

Like many other urban centers divided by an international boundary, El Paso and Juarez, from a geographic standpoint, should be one city. They lie in a valley between two mountain ranges.

But international treaties dictate that the Rio Grande, meandering through the valley on its 1,000-mile journey to the sea, separate the two cities.

So when atmospheric inversions move into the valley and trap pollution near the ground, as they do often during the winter, both cities are blanketed with smog, regardless of its source.

Like it or not, El Paso and Juarez are in the air pollution game together. What one does will be as useful if the other does nothing.

But El Paso and Juarez first must bridge a communications gap created by the language and culture differences.

On a face-to-face basis, each city is suspicious of the other when pollution is discussed.

On a formal government-to-government basis, communication, when there is any, is bound up in red tape. The municipal government of one city can't negotiate with that of the other. Such negotiations must be between the respective federal governments.

Pedro Beltran sits in a small, conservatively furnished office. No Title.

The president of the United States is distinguished by having no title. A governor is addressed as "Your Excellency," a judge as "Your Honor," but the chief executive of the nation is simply "Mr. President."

Nixon Moves to Aid U.S. Airlines

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon ordered into effect today a revised international air transport policy placing greater emphasis on U.S. ability to compete with foreign airlines and on the value of both scheduled and supplemental service.

The policy statement was much the same as a draft proposal of last Jan. 15.

Interjected, however, was a statement that purposes of the policy could not be realized until aircraft hijackings are stopped. "By any standard, air piracy is reprehensible," the statement said. "We support measures designed to end this terrible practice."

The statement did not propose any measures for prevention of hijackings, however.

A spokesman for the committee that drafted the policy said the matter is currently before other organizations, improving the International Civil Aviation Organization currently meeting in Montreal.

Nixon said the policy had been carefully framed to conserve the opportunities of all U.S. airlines for continued growth.

"It is directed realistically at making a new variety of services available to passengers and shippers," Nixon said.

After release of the proposed statement last January, the supplemental airlines praised the document while the Air Transport Association said the scheduled airline industry could not live with the proposed policy.

Dr. Paul Cherington, former assistant secretary of transportation and chairman of the policy committee, said the final policy statement gives greater emphasis to the need for preservation of individually ticketed travel, as offered by the scheduled airlines while recognizing the importance of group travel by charter airlines.

partment's Forest Service to create the new department of Natural Resources under the commission's recommendation. Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., chairman of both the commission and the House Interior Committee, told newsmen in a briefing he planned to start introducing legislation early next year that would implement some of the 387 recommendations in the report.

The government, the report said, should reverse its policy of disposing of federal land and hang on to most of it; but it should make payments to the states where federal lands are located, in place of the taxes that those lands could have generated under state ownership.

The commission provided for disposal of some federal land for particular resource development purposes.

It also urged federal regulation of oil and gas production on the outer continental shelf; leasing for other mineral mining in federal offshore lands; and the offering of some oil shale lands for experimental commercial development, under terms more attractive to industry than those of the past.

It was Aspinall who introduced legislation in 1963 to set up the Public Land Law Review Commission. The committee's executive director, Milton A. Pearl, was then staff consultant to Aspinall's Interior Committee.

The commission's task was enormous—to review some 3,700 federal laws and uncounted regulations, dating as far back as 1792 and governing more than 755 million acres—one-third of the nation's entire area.

These lands bring the federal government more than $2 billion a year—more than 75 per cent of it from oil and gas leasing on the outer continental shelf beyond the 3-mile state limits.

Almost 70 per cent of all federal land is administered by the Interior Department, but 25 per cent comes under the Agriculture Department's U.S. Forest Service.

18-Year-Old Voting Bill Is Signed

By JAMES PHILLIPS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has signed into law a bill lowering the voting age to 18 despite doubts about the measure's legality.

He directed the attorney general to seek a swift court test of its constitutionality and, at the same time, urged Congress to proceed with legislation to lower the voting age by constitutional amendment.

The 18-year-old vote provision was attached to a measure extending the Voting Rights Act of 1965 for five years. The act has been credited with enabling a million blacks to register in the South and figured prominently in Nixon's decision to sign the measure.

"Despite my misgivings about the constitutionality of this one provision, I have today signed the bill," Nixon said in a statement Monday.

"If I were to veto, I would have to veto the entire bill—voting rights and all," he said.

The Voting Rights Act will stand even if the courts struck down the 18-year-old vote provision.

"Because the basic provisions of this act are of great importance, therefore, I am giving it my approval and leaving the decision on the disputed provision to what I hope will be a swift resolution by the courts," the President added.

The measure giving 18-year-olds the right to vote will not affect this year's state and congressional elections, since it doesn't become effective until Jan. 1. The act covers all federal, state and municipal elections.

A White House source said Atty. Gen. John Mitchell probably would seek a court test, but added the bulk of the arguments probably would be made by interested parties or friends of the court instead of the government.

Anyone could seek a constitutional test, the source added.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

Mrs. Thomas R. Reeder

The Garrett Memorial Baptist Church in Hope was the setting for the candlelight ceremony uniting Miss Berenda Gail Cross and Thomas Ronald Reeder, at seven o'clock in the evening of June 12th.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cross of Jacksonville and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Reeder of Haynesville, Louisiana.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Wade Warren, organist, who accompanied Dr. Lowell Harris as he sang "If Ever I Should Leave You," "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Candles were lighted prior to the ceremony by Larry Reeder, brother of the groom, and Darin Reeves, cousin of the bride.

The Rev. Clyde Johnson conducted the double-ring ceremony before an arch of two seven-branch candelabra with burning tapers flanked on either side with floor baskets of white stock and majestic daisies. The couple knelt on a white satin kneeling bench. Family sections were marked with white satin bows.

The bride presented her mother and the groom's mother with yellow roses during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an empire A-line dress of embroidered silk organza. Venise lace was used for accent in double rows around the high neckline, cuffed sleeves, empire line, and encircling the dress and chapel length train. The bride's headpiece was fashioned of bridal illusion attached to a grouping of pearl outlined organza petals with venise lace applique centers.

She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and shasta daisies centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Johnny Schooly, of Dallas, Texas, served as Matron of Honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Camp, of Haynesville, Louisiana, cousin of the groom, and Miss Barbara Bardin, of El Dorado, former roommate of the bride. They were attired in identical formal gowns of crepe turquoise featuring a high neckline, flowing skirt and slit back accented with a bias bow. They wore matching garden hats made of silk chiffon accented with matching flowers around the open crown and down the back. They carried white baskets of shasta daisies and yellow roses accented with white and yellow streamers with loveknots.

Bennie Reeder served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Doug Cross, brother of the bride, and Ross Olgeby, former roommate of the groom. Ushers were Gayle Dixon and Doug Cross.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cross chose a yellow double knit dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Reeder chose a peach double knit dress with tan accessories. Each pinned a corsage of carnations at her shoulder.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the educational building of the church. Guests were registered by Miss Vickie Reeves, cousin of the bride. Miss Angela Howell of England, Arkansas, Mrs. Larry Crane of Hope, and Mrs. Joe Ussery of Guy, Arkansas, assisted in serving.

The bride's table was centered with a silver candelabrum with white stock and daisies. The four tiered cake was accented with yellow and topped with the traditional bride and groom.

Rice bags were distributed by Misses Christie and Cindy Johnson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Johnson.

For travel the bride wore a turquoise double knit dress with white accessories. She pinned a corsage of daisies and yellow roses from her bridal bouquet at her shoulder.

Following a wedding trip to Shreveport, Louisiana, the couple will reside temporarily in Haynesville, Louisiana, then move to Magnolia, where both are seniors at Southern State College.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Louis Nye, who has been around television since Milton Berle was Mr. TV, is having the busiest summer of his career.

He will be host of "Happy Days," a mixture of comedy and music wrapped in nostalgia, the summer replacement of "The Jim Nabors Show" starting Thursday on CBS.

During the same period, Nye will star in a revival of the 77-year-old farce, "Charley's Aunt" on Broadway.

Nye and his fellow performers already have taped 10 "Happy Days," and the Broadway show will be around for at least three weeks.

"But just suppose," said Nye, "that 'Charley's Aunt' turns into a hit, and suppose 'Happy Days' is one, too—gosh, what a dilemma."

In recent seasons some summer replacements—Johnny Cash, Glen Campbell and "Hee Haw"—have done so well they were added to the winter schedules of the networks.

Nye's television image as a droll fellow began when he was a member of Steve Allen's troupe of madmen—the others were Don Knotts and Tom Poston—on a bygone variety hour. After his arch characterization of Gordon Hathaway and other strange creatures, he was indelibly classified as a comic.

"But I still think of myself as an actor," Nye said. "In the radio days, I was busy playing rotten Nazis, rich uncles and emotional juveniles—the whole span—and the only time I tried to be funny was at parties."

Now Louis works in all areas of show business, from Las Vegas clubs to London TV studios.

"I always remember something Jack Benny said—'The best thing to do is to always return to live entertainment with real audiences. It helps you in television if you have been able to earn your laughs the hard

Cards and Pirates Split Two

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Outside of the fact that they've both made two major league starts, have 2-0 career records, pitched complete game victories Monday night, don't mind challenging the hitters and served military reserve duty early this season, rookies Jerry Reuss and Jim Nelson are as different as night and day.

Reuss, a 6-foot-5, 200 pound blond lefty, scattered nine hits as St. Louis whipped Pittsburgh 6-1 in the opener of a two-night doubleheader. Nelson, a 6-foot, 180-pound dark-haired right-hander, then took the mound for the Pirates and blanked the Cardinals 1-0 in the 10-inning nightcap.

In other National League action, San Francisco outslugged Cincinnati 13-6, Los Angeles downed Atlanta 4-2, the New York Mets trimmed the Chicago Cubs 9-5, Philadelphia took two from Montreal 6-0 and 3-2 and Houston beat San Diego 4-1.

Baltimore overcame Boston 9-8, Minnesota nipped Milwaukee 4-3 and Oakland shaded Kansas City 2-1 in the only American League games.

The Cards made it easy for Reuss, who was making his first 1970 appearance but pitched seven innings of two-hit ball to beat Montreal last year in his other big league game. They ripped into Dock Ellis for five runs in the second inning, handing him his second straight defeat since he hurled a no-hitter against San Diego.

Reuss worked out of a bases-loaded, one-out jam in the fifth by getting Freddie Patek on a short fly and Matty Alou on a pop to the infield.

Alou got revenge in the second game, driving in the only run with a single after Gene Alley led off the 10th with a single off reliever Frank Linzy and was sacrificed to second.

It was the first complete game for Nelson since July of 1968, a year he spent in the Eastern League. He developed arm trouble in spring training that year and has been plagued by it off and on ever since. But he had his fast ball, curve and palm ball in fine shape Monday and shows an 0.39 ERA for 23 innings.

The Giants gave the Reds a taste of their own home run medicine and it was powerful stuff. Willie Mays hit two and Dick Dietz and pitcher Rich Robertson one each. Tony Perez hit his 25th for the Reds, tops in the majors.

Trailing 5-3, the Giants broke the game open with six runs in the third, scoring on singles by Dietz, Hal Lanier and Ron Hunt, a balk and doubles by Alan Gal-

TV Nearly Cost Orioles Ball Game

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The television reception was fine, thank you, but the Baltimore Orioles weren't exactly enjoying the program plot. So nobody squawked when their monitor show of Monday night's game against Boston was shut off in the second inning.

They should have left the monitor on. The show got interesting later.

The Orioles, perhaps too busy watching the TV, spotted Boston six runs in the first inning and then rallied twice—after the tube was turned off and they could concentrate on the game—to overtake the Red Sox 9-8 in a nationally televised game Monday night.

Elsewhere in the abbreviated American League schedule, Oakland nipped Kansas City 2-1 and Minnesota edged Milwaukee 4-3.

In the National League, New York clipped Chicago 9-5, Los Angeles defeated Atlanta 4-2, San Francisco battered Cincinnati 13-6, Houston trimmed San Diego 4-1, Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from Montreal 6-0 and 3-2 and St. Louis split with Pittsburgh, winning the first game 6-1 and losing the second 1-0 in 10 innings.

The Orioles' TV set was sitting on the third step of their dugout, giving the Baltimore players instant replays, slow motion and stop action of Boston's six-run first inning which included a towering home run by Carl Yastrzemski and four unearned runs.

A Red Sox official complained about the set in the second inning and it was shut off. Too bad. The Baltimore bench would have enjoyed the five-run seventh inning with homers by Curt Motton and Chico Salmon moving the Orioles into a 6-6 tie.

Boston battled back, taking a modest two-run bulge on Tony Conigliaro's seventh inning homer and an eighth inning run built around singles by Mike Andrews and Billy Conigliaro and an infield out.

But in the ninth Boog Powell doubled with one out and scored on Merv Rettenmund's single. Paul Blair doubled and Brooks Robinson walked, loading the bases for Frank Robinson, who doubled home the deciding runs.

It was the fifth straight victory for the Orioles, who now lead the American League East by 3½ games. Minnesota, front-runner in the West, opened its lead to 4½ games by knocking off Milwaukee.

Harmon Killebrew's 18th home run—a three-run shot that broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth—was the big blow for the Twins. Jim Kaat throttled the Brewers on three hits until the ninth when Tommy Harper's two-run homer pulled Milwaukee within one run.

But Ron Perranoski came out of the bullpen to retire the last three batters and save the victory.

Rod Carew, Minnesota's second baseman and the American League's leading hitter, was forced to leave the game in the fourth inning because of a leg injury after he was bowled over on a double play by Milwaukee's Mike Hegan. The injury was not believed to be serious.

Frank Fernandez ripped a pinch hit homer leading off the bottom of the ninth inning to give Oakland its victory over Kansas City. The homer was the ninth this season for Fernandez, who was batting for winner Bobby Locker, 1-1.

The A's other run came on a fifth inning homer by Sal Bando, his 14th of the season and third in the last two days.

Kansas City tied the score against starter Diego Segui with an unearned run in the seventh on Paul Schaal's double and an error by John Donaldson.

Referee George Smith also felt Urtain was the winner.

"He seemed the challenger and not the champion because of his constant attack," Smith said. "Blin fought well in the last rounds when Urtain was worn out, but the advantage the Spaniard had built could not be overcome except by a knock-out."

Richie Allen Heads for All-Star

NEW YORK (AP) — With most of the starters all but determined, Richie Allen edged ahead of Willie McCovey at first base in the tightest race in the National League All-Star balloting.

Allen of St. Louis, hitting .285 with 57 runs batted in and 19 home runs, pulled ahead with 136,429 votes from the fans in the balloting released Monday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. McCovey of San Francisco, .245 with 54 RBI and 19 homers, attracted 131,616 votes in this last week of balloting.

The balloting, done in major and minor ballparks throughout the country, ends Sunday for the July 14 All-Star game against the American League in Cincinnati. The latest American League figures will be announced Thursday.

The only other close race is in the outfield, where Rico Carty of Atlanta, the league's leading hitter, pulled ahead of Willie Mays of San Francisco into second place although Carty was left off the original list and all his votes were write-ins.

Hank Aaron of Atlanta still leads everyone, with 390,357 as the top outfielder; Carty has 177,746 and Mays 173,012. Pete Rose of Cincinnati is a close fourth at 165,668.

The other leaders appear to be shoos-ins, with Glenn Beckert of Chicago holding a 29,000 vote lead over Felix Millan of Atlanta at second base; Tony Perez of Cincinnati at third; Don Kessinger of Chicago at shortstop and Johnny Bench of Cincinnati the catcher.

The reserves and pitchers will be picked by the opposing managers, Gil Hodges of the New York Mets in the National and Earl Weaver of Baltimore in the American.

Speaks for 4-Year Rule in Baseball

HOUSTON Tex. (AP) — A top college baseball coach said Monday professional baseball should have an equal chance to recruit high school ball players but they should not be allowed to recruit players out of college.

John Winkin, coach and athletic director at Colby College, spoke at the opening session of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of athletics meeting here.

"We are very concerned about there not being a four-year rule in college baseball as there is in football and basketball," Winkin, a member of the NCAA Baseball Coaches Association, the NCAA Professional Relations Committee and the NCAA Rules Committee, said.

A baseball player is now eligible for pro ball when he reaches the age of 21 or if he becomes 21 within 45 days after the spring draft.

"I think the best solution to the problem is to allow the pros to offer an expense paid visit to a high school prospect they are interested in. I feel they're

Sportlight: Golf

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — Notes from the pro golf tournament trail:

Hugh Royer, an obscure career also-ran until he scored in the Western Open, is considering leaving the grinding pro tour in a couple of years.

"I'll play this year and next year for sure," the curly-haired guy from Columbus, Ga. said, "because now I've got an exemption that far. Then we'll see."

Royer hadn't even come close to winning before his upset triumph in the Western two weeks ago. That insured him of an exemption—for a tournament winner—for the next 12 months.

"Now, if I won a couple of more tournaments or got up in the $60,000 range or something like that, it might be different," Royer said. "But if not, I'd like

Yachts Are Nearing Bermuda

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The fleet of ocean racing yachts moved towards Bermuda today after weekend squalls far at sea left at least five craft dismasted and out of the contention.

An airline pilot who sighted some of the fleet on his radar screen late Monday, reported the leaders were within 200 miles of Bermuda in the more than 600-mile test which began off Newport Saturday afternoon.

That location, however, indicated that the first to finish would cross the line at Bermuda some time today.

The Coast Guard cutter Vigilant reported Monday it monitored radioed reports from the racing fleet which indicated the cutter Warrior, of Newport Beach, Calif., and the sloop Neptun, Grundoon and Congerie lost their masts in heavy squalls some 200 miles at sea.

The Coast Guard reported none appeared to be in danger, and the cutter headed for them to give them additional supplies of fuel for their auxiliary engines so the yachts could make port under their own power.

The Spurs victory snapped a six-game winning streak for Arkansas. It also snapped a personal six-game winning streak for Arkansas pitcher Steve Evans, now 7-4.

Garland helped his own cause with a 370-foot homer in the second inning.

Steve Green, who had three hits for the Spurs, provided Garland with his winning margin with a two-run home run in the sixth inning.

Green, who beat Arkansas last week with a pinch-hit double, singled in the Spurs' first run in the opening inning. The Travelers scored in the first on a wild pitch by Garland and two passed

Speed Is the Key to Wimbledon

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Put your money on the big servers in the All-England Tennis Championships, on the fastest Wimbledon courts for years. That was the message after the first day's play on turf baked hard by weeks of hot sunshine.

"The emphasis is on speed," said Fred Perry, who won the Wimbledon title for Britain in the 1930s.

"I've never known the Wimbledon courts so quick," said John Newcombe of Australia, the No. 2 seed.

In the opening serve-and-volley duels Monday the top four favorites for the title—Rod Laver and Newcombe of Australia, Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., and Tony Roche of Australia—all got over their first hurdles without losing a set.

Weather experts have predicted possible thunderstorms, which might slow the courts down. But at present they are playing like lightning.

Laver, as fast as ever at 31, had his serve-and-volley game going in top gear to demolish George ("Butch") Seewagen of Bayside, N.Y., 6-2, 6-0, 6-2.

Ashe, rated by some experts as the likeliest man to stop Laver from winning his third straight title, was equally impressive in hammering Graham Stilwell of Britain 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

On these fast surfaces, some players who don't pack a hefty service could be in trouble.

Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., U.S. No. 2, relied more on sliced services and placements than on speed and struggled to overcome 38-year-old Istvan Gulay of Hungary 6-2, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4.

The first day went through without a single major upset.

Today the spotlight shifted to the girls. In these conditions the two top seeds—big serving Mrs. Margaret Court of Australia and serve-and-volley specialist Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif.—were stronger favorites than ever to reach the final.

Mrs. Court had to play Sue Alexander, an Australian teenager, and Mrs. King faced Floella Bonicelli of Peru.

Mrs. Court has won the women's title twice and Mrs. King took it three years running, from 1966 to 1968. Last year's champion, Mrs. Ann Jones of Britain, is doing television commentaries this year and is not defending her title.

balls by catcher Cliff Matthew. Jose Cruz singled home the other Traveler run in the fifth inning.

Buffalo's Domed Field Blocked

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Negotiations between Erie County and Domed Stadium Inc. over the leasing of a proposed domed stadium broke off Monday after an hour of discussion.

The $55 million facility, planned for construction in suburban Lancaster, would house the Buffalo Bills of the National Football League.

"The county has now completely closed the doors to further talks," a lawyer for the company said at the end of the meeting.

"The county is not walking away from anything. If there are any modifications in the next day or two you contact me," County Executive B. John Tuskus told the firm's negotiators.

The firm and the county are about $10 million apart on stadium rent and also differ on the facilities the stadium is to have. Domed Stadium, has demanded that the county provide a $2 million scoreboard and an additional 15,000 paved parking spaces.

The company offered to raise its rent payments $10 million if the county agreed to a 45-year

Nodouble 5th in Michigan Mile

About the only racing stable The Star's sports department attempts to keep up with is Gene Goff's Verna Lea entries, because Mr. Goff is a native of DeQueen, with horse operations formerly centered at Fayetteville, now in course of being transferred to the area around Orlando, Fla.

A Goff horse was scheduled to run last Saturday at Detroit but the Arkansas state newspapers failed to come up with the result, at least in the editions reaching southwest Arkansas. The Star inquired of the Associated Press, which reported it had carried a story on the wire Saturday night. Here is what happened at Detroit:

The horse was Goff's ace, Nodouble, but he finished no better than fifth in the Michigan Mile.

lease instead of a 40-year pact. Tuskus said the offer was meaningless because the county had planned on renting the stadium for more than $2 million a year during the last years of the 40-year contract.

Smith to Sue for Road to Statue

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Gerald L. K. Smith of Eureka Springs said today his attorney would file a petition with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell June 29 or June 30 charging about 65 persons with conspiracy to deny him his civil liberties.

The petition calls for an FBI investigation into the charges.

Smith, a conservative millionaire, had said recently he planned the action but waited until Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe rejected Saturday a request for $183,000 in federal funds for improvements and new construction of a road past the Christ of the Ozarks statue, Christ Only Art Gallery and the Great Passion Play amphitheater, religious projects operated by the Elna M. Smith Foundation. The road project had drawn criticism from Jewish and civil liberties organizations.

A spokesman for Volpe said the aid request was rejected because it was "a marginal project at best."

Smith said the only thing that was holding up the petition action was because the original copy of the brief is costing $1,000, "indicating its length."

Smith said the proposed road had been "approved by all the experts" and by some members of the Arkansas congressional delegation and Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

"Then about 11 organizations in the East got together against the road because they didn't like the way I told Christ's last week on earth (in the Great Passion Play)," Smith said.

Smith declined to release names in the petition but said the 11 organizations named were all Jewish.

He said blocking approval of the road "by the more powerful forces in the East" because of "my Christian religion" denied him his civil liberties.

"If the wording of the Passion Play makes me a bigot this erroneous charge would also make bigots of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John," Smith said.

Sixty per cent of the Civil War was fought on the soil of Virginia.

Finance Practice to Be Examined

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Commission on Consumer Finance, getting off the ground after a belated start, is opening hearings into a variety of credit devices consumer advocates say keep the poor on the ropes.

The commission, headed by Harvard law Prof. Robert Braucher and including members of Congress and other private citizens, listed Ralph Nader as its first witness today.

The commission was originally formed during the administration of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, but its work was set back until now when President Nixon decided he wanted his own nominees on the panel rather than those selected by his predecessor.

Because of the delay the commission will not meet its original reporting date of January 1971. Bills have been introduced in Congress to extend its life.

Gleason Gets Divorce 16 Years Late

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Gleason has been awarded a divorce from his wife of 34 years, ending a precedent-setting case.

The decree was granted Monday in state Supreme Court. Genevieve Gleason obtained a legal separation from the comedian in 1954 on an uncontested charge of abandonment.

Under legal precedent in the state, only she could have begun a divorce action because he was viewed by the law as the guilty party.

However, in 1967 a new law added a two-year legal separation as a ground for divorce.

In the Gleason case, the state's highest court, the Court of Appeals, held for the first time that if the couple were legally separated for that time, it made no difference which partner initially had been designated guilty.

Mrs. Gleason will receive more than $100,000 a year in alimony.

Asked why vegetable oils happened to be tested in the first place, Milhorat said some scientists at his institute planned last-ditch tests in chickens of a laboratory-produced compound called "Co-enzyme Q."

The latter material, first reported in 1966 by Dr. Karl Folkers, of Stanford Research Institute, had initially brought about an "apparent improvement" in mice genetically afflicted with muscular dystrophy.

But the initial promise failed to hold up in later mouse tests, Milhorat said.

Fulbright Ally Denies Getting Fee

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Fred Livingston, a Batesville lawyer who is chairman of a committee heading a drive to test Jim Johnson's movement to recall Sen. J. W. Fulbright, denied Saturday that he had received any fees to head the committee.

Johnson had charged that Fulbright had returned to Arkansas Tuesday to retain lawyers to stop the recall movement.

Livingston, chairman of the Arkansas Committee for the Defense of the United States Constitution, said that he had not accepted funds from Fulbright. He said he was out of the state when Fulbright returned to Arkansas.

Livingston called Johnson's accusation a "vicious, malicious and fictitious lie."

Livingston's committee has begun a drive to test the recalling of a U.S. Senator. He said the move would be in violation of the Constitution.

The committee had retained the law firm of McMath, Leatherman, Woods and Youngdahl to "institute whatever legal proceedings may be necessary," Livingston said.

Sid McMath of Little Rock denied that his law firm had been employed "in any capacity" by Livingston.

"We have not been employed and we will not accept employment," he said.

McMath said that "if there was any way to recall Fulbright, we would be for it." He added he did not think it was possible.

A straight line is the shortest distance between two points. When you know what you intend to bid there is no reason to get to the final contract except by the shortest possible route.

Every South player in the duplicate system game played seven no-trump and every South player but one brought his contract home. The one who missed out had a combination of circumstances to blame. First of all he never had any intention of playing the hand in anything but no-trump (remember the game was duplicate). Secondly, he wasted one round of bidding with his three-diamond call. Thirdly he was up against an exceptionally smart West player.

West was one of those players who pay attention to the bidding even though their only interest is that of a listener. He had heard South's three-diamond call and North's jump rebid in spades.

He might well have made the safe, normal lead of the heart jack but West could see what would happen if he made that safe lead. South would win, start to run diamonds, stop when it became apparent that the diamond suit wasn't going to run and finally fall back on the spade finesse. West knew that the spade finesse was going to work.

Therefore, West decided to give South a problem at trick one. He led the nine of spades!

What would you do if you were South? Would you take a 50 per cent chance of a spade finesse or a 73 per cent chance of running the diamond suit? You would do just what South did, go up with the ace of spades and lose your contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three no-trump your partner has bid three hearts over your three clubs. What do you do now?

New Trouble After Much Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alan and Margaret McClellan, running out a string of troubles that began three years ago when they went to Kentucky to organize the poor against strip miners, were called into court today to answer contempt of Congress charges.

Their problems have included charges of sedition, a dynamite blast at their home, a night raid by Kentucky authorities and the displeasure of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

They were accused of defying McClellan's investigations subcommittee by refusing to testify or produce books and records in connection with a probe of riots in Nashville, Tenn., in April 1967.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

MOTHER SHOULD PIPE DOWN Dear Helen:

Ever since I can remember I've heard how popular Mom was when she was in school. She was the prom queen, and a cheer leader, and had her pick of boys. My picture isn't even in my high school annual but she was plastered all over hers. I have nice friends, get good grades, but—

I'm almost 15 and have never had a boyfriend. So I hear how it was when SHE was 15. Her annual stays on the table. Mine gets put out of sight.

I used to be able to talk with Dad, but my folks split up two years ago. Mom says the marriage was a big mistake, and she chose the wrong one. She blames us kids for her not finding another husband, but I think her weight has something to do with it.

Sometimes I'd like to scream that I'd rather be me than her; then I feel guilty. I don't want to hurt her feelings, but how can I stop being—COMPARED? Dear Compared:

It's rough, knowing that you're more mature than your mother—and trying to keep her unaware that you know. Maybe her case of arrested development might be partially cured if you'd substitute truth for pity. A good start: Hide the annuals—and get her to join a reducing club.—H.

Dear Helen:
Last night I went to the movies with a new boy. He seemed nice, but he turned out hard to manage.

I let him kiss me once, which was a mistake, because when I was enjoying the picture, he gave me a couple of hickies, unawares.

This morning my mother saw the red marks on my neck and now she thinks I am an immoral, free-loving hippie.

Please tell her a bite on the neck doesn't mean All Is Lost.—P.W.

Dear P.:
It's as hard to convince a mother hickies are innocent fun as it is to convince ME you were so interested in the movie you got two "unawares." Let's concede "All Is Not Lost," but next time don't encourage Draculas. They've got more in mind than a nip on the neck!—H.

Dear Helen:

Our crowd are absolute friends—I mean we'd really go to bat for each other. And we did! I can't believe it even yet. It started over a simple little incident, mostly messing around, but one person just didn't see it that way. He

O. K., Louis,
But We Also
Were Scooped

Our friend Louis Graves, editor-owner of the Nashville News, feels frustrated because he thinks The Star scooped him when last Friday, June 19, we published the preliminary Census report on Southwest Arkansas cities, including his own Nashville.

But actually, The Star was scooped equally with Nashville News. We got our figures from Arkansas Democrat of Thursday, June 18. On that day the Democrat printed what it claimed was the preliminary 1970 report on every town and city in Arkansas. So our report also was second-hand news, a pickup from the Democrat.

However, what I'd like to know — and Louis, too, no doubt — is how Arkansas Democrat managed to get the complete Census report to the exclusion of the Arkansas Gazette, every other newspaper in the state, and the AP and UPI wire services.

Why didn't Louis see the Democrat and make the pickup the same way I did? Well, Louis was on vacation and probably never read the Democrat. In any event, I don't believe the government intentionally made a one-paper release of the 1970 report — and if anyone wants to launch an investigation into how the Democrat got a copy of the statewide report they can count me in on the probe. It smells of skulduggery.

Incidentally, Hope, Nashville and Prescott all showed narrow gains on the 1970 Census: Hope, 8,716 from 8,399 in 1960; Nashville 3,985 over 3,579; and Prescott 3,851 over 3,533.

Mr. Agnew Pays Visit to Arkansas

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — More than 100 persons cheered Spiro T. Agnew on his arrival at the Hot Springs airport today and the Vice President took time to shake hands with most of them before he left for a downtown speaking engagement.

Agnew and Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, who met the Vice President's plane, worked their way about 50 yards along a chain link fence, shaking hands and responding to words of support.

One woman told Agnew, "I've shaken hands with Richard Nixon, and I'm proud to shake hands with you."

A man shouted, "Get rid of Fulbright," in a reference to Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., a critic of the Nixon-Agnew administration.

Rockefeller's green and white jet arrived a few minutes before the Vice President's plane and he was waiting at the foot of the stairway when Agnew descended.

The two first approached a press area where Agnew participated in a radio interview and then, as Secret Service men tried to move him toward a Lincoln Continental, Agnew glanced toward the crowd and then whirled and moved to the end of the line hanging over the fence.

In the brief talk with newsmen, Agnew was asked if he will come to Arkansas to help in Rockefeller's third-term campaign.

"Anything I can do for him, I'm going to do," he said.

Rockefeller recalled that he and Agnew, former governor of Maryland, had served together as governors and he said, "Some of us move up and some just mush along."

Cummins Inmate Sustains Burns

His condition was reported as good.

Unpaid, He Ruins Road He Built

POINT ROBERTS, Wash. (AP) — An irate grader operator from Burnaby, B.C., plowed up a road Monday, bashed in the side of a police car, then barged across the U.S.-Canadian border in a fusillade of police bullets, authorities reported.

Police on both sides of the border later pieced together the details of the incident and gave this account:

The grader operator, Ernest R. Astells, 40, crossed the border into Point Roberts to collect $680 from contractor Phillip Sopow for work done on 1,000 feet of blacktop road.

"I told him his work had been unsatisfactory and I had to bring in another contractor from Vancouver to do the work over again," said Sopow. The grader operator told Sopow he had a grader parked outside and would tear up the road if he wasn't paid.

Sopow later told authorities he thought it was a bluff, but telephoned Deputy Sheriff Chad Caswell, who arrived just as the grader started gouging holes in the road.

Caswell parked his car in front of the grader which plowed ahead, taking a chunk out of the car. More police arrived.

The grader then headed for Canada, pursued by police firing shots at the machine's big tires in a futile effort to halt it. The grader lumbered past Canadian customs officers and into Tsawassen, B.C.

Contacted by a newsman, Astells verified the account given by authorities but declined to discuss the incident.

No charges were filed, since the offense is nonextraditable, authorities said.

What to Say, Also, What Not to Say, in a Thank-You Note

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is writing "thank you" letters to your host and hostess after a more or less successful weekend at their cottage in the country.

It is difficult enough to feel grateful after the experience, often more bruising than rewarding, but to have to find words to express that dubious gratitude tests the Shakespeare in us all.

Aside from the unctuous messages one finds in Chinese fortune cookies, which have a pseudo-Oriental deviousness, the so-called bread-and-butter note is perhaps America's most lasting contribution to the world literature of hypocrisy.

What to say and what not to say? That is the Hamlet-like problem of the embarrassed guest.

Weekend stays vary greatly in character. Some are like safaris in insect-ridden darkest Africa. Some, in athletic households where they play games, are like one long 48-hour obstacle course. Others are seemingly endless endurance tests in either uneventful tedium or bacchanalian revelry.

All of this makes it impossible for a fellow to draft a form letter of thanks to cover every situation, a form letter he could use from youth to old age.

Whether you return to the city a physical wreck or in reasonable condition, however, it is better on the whole to adopt a conciliatory and even flattering

Clue to Cure for Muscular Dystrophy Is Believed Found

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Serendipity—in the form of a scientific accident—has led to a discovery that may help find the cause of crippling muscular dystrophy, so far an incurable disease.

Dr. Ade T. Milhorat, a New York medical researcher, reported to the White House Monday that chemicals derived from vegetable oils have reversed the muscle-disintegrating process in chickens—the first such reversal in any living creature.

Milhorat, however, cautioned against premature hopes the chicken experiments would assure a new treatment for humans.

"We believe," he said in a letter to Mrs. Richard Nixon, "that these observations will lead to a more complete understanding of the cause and nature of muscular dystrophy. We hope, but cannot predict, their role in the treatment of the disease in other species, including man."

But he also told the President's wife the chicken-test results were so promising that human trials of at least some of the compounds are envisioned.

More than 200,000 Americans—mostly young boys—suffer from the disease.

Milhorat, director of the Institute for Muscle Disease, Inc., told a reporter it's possible human trials could begin within a few months—provided the recently-identified, "active principle" chemicals pass rigid safety tests already under way in other

Complaints Pour in on Census

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau has been hit with an unprecedented volume of complaints from disappointed towns who think the official government nose count cheated them.

But the bureau maintains its results are accurate. Shifting population and unnoticed economic changes are the reasons the local estimates are off, it says.

In some cases the Census figures, which are preliminary and complete only in some areas, are embarrassing because the city fathers or booster groups have used higher ones in promotion.

In others, however, population determines how much money the city receives from state or federal governments and lower-than-expected figures can mean real financial readjustment.

"We have found no case where the figures were even insignificantly off," Census official Paul A. Squires said, al-

Bitter Debate on Abortion

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — One side asserted that abortion is a woman's fundamental right and predicted laws against it would be found unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

The other side argued that unrestricted abortion would be an echo of the population control methods of Nazi Germany.

These dramatically differing views of proposed abortion reform marked a deeply emotional and often bitter debate at the 119th annual convention of the American Medical Association. The AMA Board of Trustees has recommended that the association's governing body, the House of Delegates, approve a basic change in AMA policy-making abortion subject only to a decision between the woman and her doctor.

The present AMA policy, set in 1967, opposes abortion except for therapeutic reasons and in certain circumstances. The committee that heard the testimony Monday will make recommendations to the House of Delegates, which will vote on the issue before the end of the convention Thursday.

Opponents of the change referred to easier abortion in such terms as "infanticide, fetusicide, genocide, murder and killing of defenseless babies."

Dr. Vincent J. Collins, chairman of the department of anesthesia at Cook County Hospital in Chicago, said, "Infanticide is just around the corner."

"From the fetus," he said, "you go to infanticide, then you eliminate the old, you eliminate races. It just opens up the whole Pandora's box of people control."

Dr. Gloria Hafferman of Wilmette, Ill., describing herself as physician, scientist and mother, declared:

"Abortion is a defeatist and a regressive approach. We can rescue astronauts from the moon but we resort to this barbaric procedure."

Referring to legal restrictions on abortion, Dr. Allan C. Barnes, chairman of the department of gynecology and obstetrics at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, said, "There is a strong consensus that such legislation is, indeed, a violation of the woman's constitutional right and we may wake up some day to find all abortion laws invalid."

The National Federation of Catholic Physicians' Guilds said it was unilaterally opposed to the proposed change in AMA policy.

"This departure," the federation said, "may place the profession of medicine at the disposal of government in a manner inimical to the proper functioning of the profession as was the case in Nazi Germany."

Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher, president of Planned Parenthood—World Population, urged that "abortion be placed in the same category as other health services—a decision between the doctor and his patient."

N. Vietnam Has Soviet Rocket

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops drove a Cambodian battalion from two villages on the Mekong River about 11 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, and the retreating battalion commander said his men had discovered a Soviet rocket that could hit the capital.

As the battalion commander, Maj. Ros Preung, stood on the river bank at Mouk Khampoul, four Cambodian T28 planes attacked the occupied villages with napalm, setting most of the thatch and wood buildings afire. Cambodian troops said the villagers had fled to the south when an estimated 1,000 North Vietnamese attacked early today.

Preung said his battalion of 400 men was hit from three sides and forced into the river. They retreated by fishing boats to the west bank. He said four of his men were killed and about 20 wounded, but he claimed they killed at least 30 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese now have the upper hand along much of the Mekong where it courses down through eastern Cambodia. The only government stronghold left between Mouk Khampoul and the Laotian border is at Tonle Bet and Kompong Cham, 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

This new pressure on Phnom Penh from the northeast was coupled with reports that two North Vietnamese regiments were establishing positions around Prey Veng, a provincial capital 31 miles east of the national capital, for what may be a major attack. An attack on Prey Veng could be the prelude to the drive on Phnom Penh which military sources in the Cambodian capital expect.

South Vietnamese forces in Cambodia reported three clashes—two near the border south-east of Kompong Cham and one near Tuoke—in which a total of 37 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese and four South Vietnamese were killed. The U.S. Command reported three Americans killed and 15 wounded in skirmishing near the border, with a total of 10 enemy soldiers killed.

Mackrell Asks Party 'Crossover'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — James K. "Uncle Mac" Mackrell said Monday night that he would concentrate on persuading 100,000 voters who traditionally vote Democratic to cross party lines to support him in the Aug. 25 primary for the Republican nomination for governor.

Mackrell, questioned by listeners on Little Rock radio station KLR, said Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and state Rep. Sterling R. Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock, a GOP candidate for lieutenant governor, "have no place in the statehouse."

Mackrell said Rockefeller, who is seeking a third term, was irresponsible in state spending.

He also said that he would ask federal courts next week for an injunction to prevent the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare from cutting off federal funds to public schools that do not comply with federal civil rights regulations.

Child Killed by Playmate's Shot

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Authorities reported that Kevin O'Bar, about 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy O'Bar of near Mayflower, was fatally wounded Monday in an accident at his home.

Mayflower Marshal Sonny York said the child was struck by a bullet from a .22-caliber pistol that accidentally discharged while the child's 3-year-old brother was playing with it.

Authority Over U.S.-Owned Land Would be Given to New Agency

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special government study panel urged today that control of all federal land—one third of the nation—be concentrated in a new Department of Natural Resources and in a single committee in each house of Congress.

The 19-member Public Land Law Review Commission said the administration of federal land is a fragmented legal mess, largely because of past congressional inaction. It urged Congress to reclaim authority which has fallen to the President by default.

The commission's 289-page report climaxing a five-year, $7 million study recommended that virtually the entire body of law governing public lands be rewritten, with Congress setting guidelines to insure that each federal area is dedicated to its "highest and best use."

Air Attacks Push Deep in Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has extended the Indochina air war deep into Cambodia for the first time with American pilots ranging far and wide in search of enemy targets.

In making the disclosure Monday, the Pentagon said U.S. planes have been striking at enemy troop and supply lines nearly every day for almost a week.

Officials indicated the bombing missions are likely to continue—probably on a daily basis if weather permits—long past the June 30 pullout deadline for American troops.

The White House declined to say whether any limitations have been placed on the aircraft.

One official conceded the flights could indirectly help Cambodian forces. If American planes bombed routes used to supply Communist forces fighting Cambodians, the official said, the Cambodians would benefit from the attacks.

However, he insisted, the chief purpose of the attacks is to interdict supply lines and not provide air support for Cambodian forces.

Until the new air strikes were announced, enemy targets were thought to have been limited to supply lines and troop movements within the sanctuary areas along the South Vietnamese border.

Pentagon officials insisted the new raids—possibly as deep as 100 miles inside Cambodia—represent no widening or escalation of the war.

Goldberg Favored in N.Y. Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur J. Goldberg wears the favorite label in today's New York Democratic gubernatorial primary, but his opponent, millionaire Howard Samuels, forecast an upset on the basis of campaign gains.

Goldberg, 61, has the backing of the regular party organization in making his first bid for elective office. He has stressed his background as mediator and conciliator gained during past service as secretary of labor, Supreme Court justice and U.N. ambassador.

Goldberg said his national reputation would make the difference in November when the Democratic candidate takes on Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. "Samuels cannot defeat Rockefeller," he declared.

Samuels, 50, a Canandaigua, N.Y., industrialist, took the opposite view, contending that Goldberg's endorsement by the Democratic party organization would make him vulnerable to an antiboss attack by Rockefeller.

That was the main issue in a vigorous campaign but there was little evidence that it aroused the public and fewer than a million of the state's 3.5 million registered Democrats were expected to vote today.

In addition to the Goldberg-Samuels race, Democratic voters had a choice of four candidates for the party's senatorial nomination. The winner will oppose GOP Sen. Charles E. Goodell and Conservative party candidate James Buckley in the fall.

Theodore C. Sorensen, 42, was the choice of the party organization and the initial favorite. A one-time speechwriter for President John F. Kennedy, Sorensen stressed that association in the campaign slogan, "John Kennedy trusted him."

On the eve of the election he was rated no better than a co-favorite with Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, a Westchester County millionaire, and Paul O'Dwyer, former New York City councilman. Rep. Richard Max McCarthy was a long shot.

Discord in High Court Evident

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court term is nearing an end under evident strain. The justices seem to have declared open season on each other.

In decisions Monday and from the bench they sniped at one another's logic and legal precepts. Some sarcasm was thrown in for good measure.

Justice Byron R. White, normally a cool fellow, teed off on Justice John M. Harlan, who had accused him of diluting constitutional protections in declaring the traditional 12-man jury is not required by the Constitution.

White said Harlan's argument was "threadbare" and "without any basis in reason."

Harlan and Justice Hugo L. Black resumed, meanwhile their decades-old duel over whether the 14th Amendment made the Bill of Rights provisions binding on the states.

Black's position that it did become the majority view in the 1960s.

Harlan said the court should "face up to reality" and reconsider Black's doctrine "before its leveling tendencies further retard development in the field of criminal procedure by stifling flexibility in the states."

Black fired back at Harlan that if anything would dilute the Bill of Rights it would be Harlan's "shock the conscience" test.

That is, Black said, Harlan would decide cases "not on the language of the Constitution but solely on the views of a majority of the court as to what is 'fair' and 'decent'."

In a second opinion, Black attacked the reasoning set forth by White and approved by Justices William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall in guaranteeing a jury trial when defendants could be sent to prison for more than six months.

Black said there was no need to balance costs and speed of nonjury trials against the protections a jury trial provides defendants.

The Constitution, by its very words, provides for jury trials "in all criminal prosecutions," Black said, quoting from the document. "Those who wrote and adopted our Constitution and Bill of Rights engaged in all the balancing necessary," he said sourly.

Black's was not the last shot fired on the point, though.

Justice Potter Stewart, a skilled man with the needle, called Black's judicial theory "plainly and simply wrong as a matter of fact and law."

Stewart said even a schoolboy knows the Bill of Rights was designed as a protection against the power of the federal government and not as a protection against the states.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, who can be vitriolic, used sarcasm to dissent from a decision that gave indigents the right to a free lawyer at preliminary hearings.

McClellan Criticizes Court Rule

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Monday that court decisions that have changed "the law of the land" had contributed "to the deterioration of law enforcement."

McClellan, speaking to the 30th annual conference of the National Sheriffs Association, said had chosen "to give new construction and meaning to many parts of the Constitution" rather than help "to stem the tide of permissiveness, civil disobedience and lawlessness by adhering to and honoring almost 200 years of legal experience and precedents."

"I profoundly trust that we have already seen the high-water mark of activism and false liberalism which have characterized some court decisions in recent years," McClellan said.
